a thousand reasons to visit us

almería cruises

Puerto de Almería

The origin of Almeria was the need to a better defence system, to protect the Xth century new arab settlements. It was Abd-al-Rahman III who founded the Alcazaba (the Citadel), which gave this city its name: Al-Mariy-yat (the Watchtower). It is the biggest fortress ever built by the Arabs in Spain and it housed —within its triple wall— palaces and mosques. During this time (10th century), Almeria was the main commercial port in the Caliphate of Cordoba, with more than 10,000 textile mills in its medina.

Visit the main monuments left by the eight centuries of Muslim occupation.

You will pass by the Old Mosque (now Church of San Juan SXVI-XVII) which was built on S.X by the arabs.
Then your guide will take you into the La Alcazaba (SX) Built by Abderrahman III. It has two different areas, one Muslim and one Christian, this one from 1489 (after the recapture of the Catholic Monarchs)

Come down from the fortress by the c /Almanzor to charming “Plaza Vieja”, where you can have a break in Hammam: Aires de Almería where are the Arab baths or hammam where. You can enjoy the water and have a relaxing massage on the marble tempered. Finally we can visit the Arab Aljibes, built by Jairan (S.XI) to supply water to the population. We can continue the trip into the city centre. Then will have free time to browse around the shops and cafes in this area.

WALKING ROUTE THROUGH MUSLIM ALMERÍA AND HISTORIC OLD TOWN

Walking Tour Almeria: Religious art in the City

Almeria is a paradise for those who love of architecture and religious art, our cathedrals, churches, monasteries, shrines and chapels are part of our historical past.

You will begin walking the “Paseo San Luis” to go to Hospital de Santa María Magdalena: The complex of buildings that shows the Hospital dominant architectural styles, mainly old Mudejar style, and also Neoclassicism from the last quarter of the eighteenth century in the home and yard, while eclecticism that defines the Chapel and Hospice are dated in the nineteenth century.

Then we can visit the Casa de los Puche (XVII) and old building currently home of Medinaceli Brotherhood of Christ, La Merced and San Pedro. It is also the museum of the Brotherhood.

Cathedral de la Encarnación of Almería: unique Cathedral/Fortress of the Iberian Peninsula (S. XVI). Built to avoid the pirates raids, it shows a great contrast between inside and outside. The Episcopal Diocese of Almería. The building has an architectural transition between the late Gothic, Renaissance and baroque and has also late neoclassical features.

Continue the visit to the Plaza de San Pedro, The Church of San Pedro S.XIX neoclassical façade. Go on to the Plaza Virgen del Mar, shrine of the Patron's statue S. XIII-SXIV that was found on the beach more than 500 years ago. Close to this church is the Almería Arts school, with a nice cloister.
